

The faith of all Christians rests on the Trinity.

- St. Caesarius of Arles

continue to find it hard to unravel the mystery of the Trinity. According to the Catechism of the Catholic Church, the unveiling of God in history finds its full revelation in the Person of Jesus Christ (CCC, 65). Through Jesus, God drew us closer to Him. Our senses now recognises the hand that touched our lives, the face that comforted our anguished souls, and most of all, the heart that saves us. In recognising him, our lives seem to make sense.

The ultimate aim for our being, as taught by the Catholic Church, is to return to God, and see Him face to face. This is most poignantly reflected by St Paul (1 Cor 13:12) who speaks of both our will and soul, as reflected in God Himself, as treading the path to the Divine. The synthesis of both our lives and the divine which we draw upon is the grace of the Holy Spirit. Empowered, we seek now the clarity of our being, reflected by our love and actions. Today we are reminded to ask ourselves, "Has my life always reflected the divine, the Christ in me?" "How far have I drawn away from Christ, the center of my life?" "Do I draw my strength and love from him?" "How often have I walked away from the path he has set for me?" "Do I recognise the hand of Jesus in all the graces and countless miracles he has endowed me?"

The path to God is a path together with the Holy Trinity. Only through the Father, Son and Spirit, do we see ourselves for who we are. And only with them, can we be at our best. God loves us and wants us to truly become One with Him. So the path has been laid before our feet. Let us walk now in the love of the Father, the light of Christ, and the power of the Holy Spirit, and more importantly draw others upon the same path. †

FAMILY POWERED IN CHRIST... To See Him Face-to-face

"Let us make man in our own image" (Gen 1:26).
The two plural terms "us" and "our" draws us first and foremost to an understanding that God is not a singular entity. This idea may have probably confounded many people in the understanding of the Holy Trinity. Today, we
