A CALL TO SAINTHOOD IN CHRIST

To Be A HERO

Most of us have grown up with 'heroes' in our lives. At different phases of life, certain 'heroes' dominate our thinking and influence our judgements and actions. My young son is reaching secondary school phase soon. He has shifted his interest from animals to marvel-type personalities who have superhuman capabilities, while I

I make myself a leper with the lepers to gain all to Jesus Christ.
- St. Damian of Molokai continue to be inspired by the daily stories of heroism. These 'heroes' are not the type that don capes or tight-fitting costumes. Ever heard of Tom Monaghan - who sold his Domino's Pizza chain for USD1 billion, and thereafter focused on building Catholic universities for young people, as well as, set up other Catholic establishments? Do you remember St Teresa of Calcutta who suggested that we "give till it hurts"?

Actually, we don't have to look far for heroes. Look around your parish or neighbourhood and search for your own heroes. If you look closely for the element of love for both God and neighbor, these heroes will spring up. We can relate this to a fellow parishioner who serves in the prison ministry or to a young mother, who despite her busy-ness at home and work, dedicates herself to the voluntary education service for the poor children in her community. What is heartwarming is that they have drawn other heroes to their cause.

It is through such heroes that we understand and appreciate Jesus' sacrifice on the cross. Such an act ensures the rejection of none, by being generous to all. There are no parades or rewards for this type of heroism. No one sees or notices or even applauds. Just the promise of Christ in Mt 6:4 that "Your Father who sees all that is done in secret will reward you."

So what does it take to move you to live out your bit of heroism, that is, the sharing of your love to others? To take time to disconnect from the busyness in your life in order to claim a sense of magnificence from God and to offer it back to Him? Just like the poor woman who offered her precious two coins, do we dare say, "Here is my bit Lord!" The opportunity to do so is all around us since the causes are plenty. We don't need capes or tight fitting costumes. We just have to obey Jesus to love and serve. That's all it takes, and that is all that is needed. †

Weekly WORD
We just have to obey Jesus to love and serve.
